Celebrating change

The world is changing. And even if it's not kinder or gentler yet, most of us want it to be. And that in itself is worth celebrating. Whether we choose to save the whales or save our sanity by spending Friday nights at home, we've all taking a new and long overdue look at our priorities.

As we enter the '90s we're taking a long look at how we do business. For spring we've put together the most exciting catalog yet. Nearest. Edited. Responsive to your needs.

We're excited about the present — even more excited about the future. As we begin our 135th year, there's every reason to celebrate.

DESIGN STUDIO/SPIEGEL

THIS CATALOG THROUGH AUGUST 17, 1990.

The right air of authority, tempered with softness. Here, an example of what dressing for the '90s is all about.

THE JACKET. The elaborate print takes center stage—remnant of a fine antique floral. The design: decidedly simple with today's notable shawl collar, padded shoulders, and three pockets; two in front, one at the chest. Three buttons on the sleeve and one-button front close. The lining: viscose rayon; fully lined. Dry clean. Made in USA of supported fabric; light, with lapels and beige. (Browse also on pg. 65, earrings, pg. 58, shoes, pg. 61, accessories, pg. 119.)

AGENDA

Each year more and more women reach management. By the early '90s, over 60% of new businesses will be started by women. Stats like these bring clout. Confidence. Energy. What scores points now is dressing how you like. It's not about breaking the rules—just rewriting them.

a new confidence

SPRING '88

It's all in the attitude. Flirtier. Sexier. Bold in line. Confident in color. From impactful pales to a new look at navy and ivory. It's a season that makes the most of accessories. You're sure of your femininity, so show it.

For men, total wardrobe looks and versatility are the key.

And, new this spring, Local Heroes—our exclusive collection of casual chic. (See page 174). Spring. It's style with confidence.

When it comes to shopping, we have all that it takes to make it a pleasure: 24 hour toll-free ordering, helpful order takers, hassle-free returns (we'll even pay for them), UPS delivery and pick-up (which we'll a new confidence is flaunted in feminine career looks. Menswear patterned jackets, cropped jackets with the new skirt shapes—flippier, flouncier, tiered. Dresses come into their own again. Color takes on new couplings—black and white, navy with ecru (the new spectator) plus burnished neutrals and teal. Spring '88: it's a dressier, dressed-up season. With accessories in high gear and a fun sophistication that's long overdue.

THE SHAPE OF SPRING exemplified by this tunic and floppy skirt by Constance Saunders for Richard Warren II. In navy and cream. Dry clean. Imported.

TUNIC SWEATER has a longer, tapered shape, ribbed crew neck, cap sleeves. Rayon/acrylic.

Dry is one of skin's biggest problems during the winter season. Cold air blowing on the face causes the skin to lose moisture from the surface at an accelerated rate. Intensity skyrockets. While weathered skin isn't and face creams help, the best preventive technique is to make a moisture-boosting regimen that includes night-time care, too.

WINTER-FREE WINTER SKIN GUIDE

For years we've been hearing about the effects of summer sun on skin and the need for protection from its permanently damaging rays. But what happens after the sun fades, when winter weather hits? Unfortunately, the answer is usually diminished attention to care of the skin, which doesn't bode well for its appearance.

change from dry indoor heat to cold outdoor temperatures and blustering dry winds is enough to make any face want to hide away until spring.

Wintertime doldrums are a thing of the past, if you follow the expert advice on these 14 pages. Here, the best news ever on keeping your complexion in tip-top, glowing condition, along with terrific clothes to bring a warming lift to the cold-weather months ahead.

irreparable harm: the stresses put upon skin during the winter months can cause dryness, one awful sign of discomfort and even lead to severe problems, including premature aging.

irritated for all the types. Face, hands and body become much more susceptible to damage and discomfort. The basic rule is: Whatever your natural tendencies, expect them to worsen during this time of year.

Most of us are aware of the signs of winter skin dryness, chapping, itching, roughness, itching, red, or red spots. The key goal on a winter skin is to keep it comfortable with a lot of moisture.

Not good news. However, once you acknowledge that skin is in the winter condition—and why—it is much easier to mitigate it, or at least not to exacerbate it as much.

Fabulous Fall

ORREFORS

SENSATIONAL

Orrefors. Your name will be on the gift card, and the designer's initials will be etched on the crystal.

Orrefors, the Swedish crystal to give if you want this Christmas to out-dazzle them all. It has the clarity and fire that mark it as one of the world's finest crystals, and its designers have shaped it with grace and elegance. At Dayton's, you'll find the largest collection in the Upper Midwest.
